REDS CLAIM TANK VICTORY AT KHARKOV

BURMA BATTLE FLARES IN NEW 30-HOUR FIGHT

U. S. Air Forces Also Keep Up Attack There and in Australian Area.

By The Associated Press

The new battle of Burma flamed with greater intensity today as British headquarters reported 30 hours of fighting along the Mayu river, 12 miles north of Bathedaung, while American fliers ranged far and wide over the Japanese-conquered territory to bomb railway bridges, highways and truck convoys.

A British communique tersely reported a series of clashes on the east bank of the Mayu river, where reinforced Japanese troops were attacking Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces.

The communique said there was no general change in the situation, indicating the British Imperials had stiffened after minor withdrawals several days ago.

Marshal Wavell himself declared India's volunteer army of 2,000,000 was now "in a position to meet and defeat any attack against her soil."

U. S. Air Force Attacks

U. S. 10th air force headquarters said American planes were hitting Japanese supply lines in widespread attacks.

For 48 hours, a communique said, U. S. planes bombed and machine-gunned the Japanese without loss of a single aircraft.

In the southwest Pacific allied planes struck widely at enemy sea transport and bases yesterday in the developing battle of the island fringes around Australia where the Japanese are reported concentrating troops.

General MacArthur's airmen seeking to finish off a three ship Japanese troop convoy which was attacked the previous day while headed for Dobo, in the Aroe islands 500 miles north of Darwin, reported, however, they could find no trace of the vessels in a search of the west coast of the Aroes and the south coast of New Guinea.

"We don't know where the convoy went, but it didn't reach Dobo," a headquarters spokesman said.

Two Ships Hit

Two of the ships in the convoy previously had been reported heavily damaged by direct bomb hits and severe casualties were said to have been inflicted on enemy troops crowding the decks.

While the search for the convoy was pressed, allied medium bombers hammered home attacks on Dobo, scoring hits on barracks, tents and a radio station, today's communique said. Three luggers also were reported bombed and sunk near Wokam, a small island in the Dobo area.

DeGaulle Reported Ready To Meet General Giraud

Leader of Fighting French Forces Expected To Leave for Algiers for Conferences on Unity.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 17—The French national committee announced today Gen. Charles De Gaulle was expected to leave shortly for Algiers to confer with Gen. Henri Giraud on cementing a union of all Frenchmen who are fighting the axis.

Giraud, French high commissioner of North Africa, called for such a conference in his speech Sunday repudiating the Vichy-German armistice and repealing Vichy's oppressive laws.

The committee of the fighting French met yesterday and the announcement was their answer to Giraud's appeal.

De Gaulle's headquarters received with unqualified satisfaction news of the resignation of Gen. Jean Marie Bergeret, former Vichy air minister and Giraud's deputy for civil affairs.

Supporter of Darlan

He was one of four supporters of the late Admiral Jean Darlan to whose presence in North African positions the Fighting French objected. They accused Bergeret of imprisoning and brutalizing hundreds of Frenchmen for refusal to accept the validity of the armistice and for continuing the war against the Germans. The other three are Gen. Auguste Nogues, expected soon to resign as governor of French Morocco; Pierre Boisson, governor of West Africa; and Marcel B. Peyrouton, governor of Algeria.

Giraud's pronouncements were welcomed by both the British and U. S. governments in statements by Prime Minister Churchill and Secretary of State Hull and brought the North African administration very closely into line with policies De Gaulle has enunciated as essential conditions for union.

De Gaulle's acceptance of Giraud's invitation was transmitted through Gen. Georges Catroux, Fighting French delegate to Syria and liaison man with Giraud.

High Position for Catroux

It is expected that as a result of the negotiations, Catroux may become a ranking official in Giraud's administration.

He has been De Gaulle's right hand man almost from the moment De Gaulle came to London after the fall of France. He also is an old friend of Giraud. At the time the allies recognized Darlan as high commissioner for North Africa, Catroux criticized the action and declared that Giraud was a vastly better qualified man.

The French national committee statement said:

"The national committee considers that union of the empire and expansion of its war effort in liaison with the entire French resistance movement in conditions cognizant with the will and dignity of the nation now is progressing favorably."

The statement added that events in North Africa had taken a "fortunate trend."

RED CROSS AWAITING THURSDAY REPORTS

Workers Hope To Push Total Over $36,000 Goal.

Work today and Thursday in the Red Cross war fund drill will determine whether Marion county can announce Friday that the $36,000 war fund quota has been reached.

Eugene Willey, head of the drive in the rural area, today issued a special appeal to all workers in the county to do their utmost to make their reports either before or at the third report meeting Thursday night at 7:30, fast time, in the Red Cross chapter office on the second floor at 133½ West Center street.

Those who cannot attend were asked to make reports to Mr. Willey in the county health office in the courthouse. Green Camp and Grand Prairie township are the only two units that had filed complete reports by this morning, Mr. Willey said.

Braving a drenching rain yesterday, a corps of staff assistants of the chapter made a partial canvass of the downtown area and raised more than $100 in contributions from persons who had not been contacted. The staff assistants were out again today. Anyone who may be missed in the special canvass and who has not already contributed to the fund may take their money to the chapter office.

ALLIED PLANES POUND AXIS IN NORTH AFRICA

Convoy Suffers Heavy Blow Off Sicily; Nazi Artillery Rakes 8th Army.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 17—DNB, in a Berlin radio broadcast heard here today by Reuters said the British Eighth army had launched an attack on the Mareth line last night. "The scale of the fighting cannot be judged by reports so far available, but Berlin quarters believe this is a major attack," DNB said.

The British thrust was made at the coastal end of the line at 10:30 o'clock last night and followed a lively artillery barrage which increased to a veritable cannonade, the report said.

* * *

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, March 17—A mighty allied air striking force blasted another axis convoy in the Sicilian straits, attacked an airfield near Gabes and pounded Marshal Rommel's dug in positions in the Mareth line, it was announced today.

German artillery opened up on the British Eighth army deployed before the French-built fortifications in the Medenine sector and allied patrols were active along the whole southern front, an allied communique said.

The continued plague of bad weather restricted flying in central and northern Tunisia.

Heavy rain beat upon the ancient mountains in the north, but British First army patrols ventured out, inflicting casualties. North of the Gafsa oasis in the center, contact was made with some enemy tanks, but the result was not specified.

Bombers attacked an axis airfield and the railway near the east coast port of Gabes.

At least three motor barges proceeding from Sicily to Tunisia were hit and left ablaze in the attack on the convoy.

Planes rising from the dry, sandy stretches of the western desert continued the softening up process of Rommel's positions in the Mareth line, the communique said. Fighter bombers and medium bombers, escorted by fighters, carried the aerial assault to the Germans and Italians.

One Plane Lost

In all operations yesterday, the communique said one allied plane was lost.

(The Italian communique, broadcast from Rome and recorded by The Associated Press, said German planes had torpedoed two allied ships and set a third afire in a convoy west of Bengasi. The Italians claimed the destruction of two allied submarines.)

Meanwhile, a dash of mystery came from London: an atmosphere of suspense on the stock exchange, and reports that a major war development was imminent.

No inkling was given of what to expect, but there were signs the hour might be near for a climactic allied offensive to drive the axis out of Tunisia and give Field Marshal Erwin Rommel—as Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery expressed it—"a very bloody nose."

Speculation that the zero hour might be approaching found support in dispatches from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters reporting that allied warplanes were violently pounding Marshal Rommel's dug-in position in the Mareth line.

Rommel's northern commander, Col.-Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim, already was drawing in his forces in the Sedjenane sector, 35 miles west of the big axis base at Bizerte, and allied headquarters said British 1st Army troops advanced without encountering any opposition.

A plausible explanation seemed to be that Von Arnim had fallen back to stronger defense lines in expectation of a powerful British offensive.

Map Up Gabes Path

In central Tunisia, allied troops were mopping up in the region between Gafsa and the Chott Djerid salt lake, paving the way for a drive toward the Gulf of Gabes to cut off the axis-held Mareth line.

In France, thousands of French patriots, sworn to wage guerrilla warfare rather than work in Germany's war factories, were reported still holding out in the mountains along the French-Swiss frontier, resisting attempts of French police to round them up.

German and Italian troops were reported waiting to move against the partisans [illegible] Algiers broadcast said [illegible] men were [illegible] tains to [illegible]

Marion Livestock Auction Set As War Bond Event

Sellers To Take Payment in Bonds, Stamps at Agricultural Committee's March 26 Sale.

A war bond livestock auction, believed the first of its kind in Ohio, will be staged at the Marion Union Stock yards Friday, March 26, at 1:30 p. m., fast time.

The unique bond and stamp selling feature will be conducted under auspices of the Marion County War Bond staff agricultural committee, of which A. J. Loudenslager of 547 North Main street is chairman.

Cattle, lambs, hogs, horses, chickens, rabbits and goats will be consigned to the sale by farmers of the Marion area and will be sold to the highest bidder, the farmers receiving the sale price in bonds and stamps.

Some Donated Stock

The stock yard management, cooperating fully with the sponsors, will donate enough of its own livestock to offset the usual yardage and commission which the yard is required by law to charge. This livestock will be auctioned in a special "victory auction" during the sale. Bids will be made in war bonds and the bidders will receive the livestock as a gift.

The sale will be conducted in the usual order of the regular Monday auctions at the stockyards. However, it will be an additional auction and will not affect the usual weekly auctions on March 22 and 29, the sponsors emphasized.

All employes of the stock yards will donate their services for the special sale.

The Christian church at Caledonia will serve lunch. To complete the "all out for war bonds and stamps" theme of the sale, the church will purchase bonds and stamps with any profits which may be made on the lunch.

Plan Well Received

Farmers who were contacted early in the plans for the auction were enthusiastic at the prospect of participating in the patriotic sale, Mr. Loudenslager said this morning.

Chairmen of the various townships are busy contacting personally all the farmers in their area, asking them to consign stock for the sale.

The various township chairmen are Victor Kries, Richland; Harry Strine, Waldo; Fred Baldinger, Tully; Harry Gracely, Big Island; F. J. Burbaugh, Montgomery-W; J. H. Wolcslagel, Prospect; Loren Wier, Scott; Calvin Baldinger, Claridon-N; Harry Key, Claridon-S; G. G. Blow, Grand; Dale Lawrence, Pleasant; William Guthery, Bowling Green; Thomas Thew, Grand Prairie; Alpheus Gruber, Marion-S; Wallace Linn, Marion-N; George Rogers, Salt Rock; John Ruth, Green Camp; M. A. Virden, Montgomery-E. Paul Lill of Grand Prairie township is assistant chairman to Mr. Loudenslager.

ANTI-SABOTAGE BILL DELAYED

Fate of This and Other Measures Now Uncertain in Congress.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17 — Post-war planning and anti-sabotage legislation looked as uncertain as the outcome of the Ruml tax now on Capitol Hill today, but swift senate action loomed on measures deferring farm workers and nullifying the President's salary-limitation order.

Meanwhile most of the nation's local transportation vehicles were frozen in their tracks—and the capital contemplated the latest political and kitchen comment concerning the White House.

Proposals for an international organization to settle world economic and political problems in post-war days ran head-on into outspoken opposition in the senate foreign relations committee whose members seemed to think such discussions now might hamper the war effort. Consideration of a resolution by four senators that the United States take the lead in setting up such a system was proceeding with caution, since some feared if the question hit the senate floor the resulting explosion might damage allied relations.

Anti-Sabotage Laws

On the other side of congress, similar caution cropped up in the house rules committee which held up for further study legislation to tighten the anti-sabotage laws and to impose the death penalty for offenses against the national safety. Members feared the legislation was so broadly drawn that it could be used for persecution as well as prosecution.

The house cleared its desks for one of the stormiest tax battles in history after the ways and means committee reported out a measure providing a 20 per cent withholding levy against wages and salaries, effective July 1, and making pay-as-you-go optional for any taxpayers who choose to settle two years' obligations within one year. Supporters of the Ruml skip-a-year plan voiced new confidence of house approval when the bill goes to the floor for debate—probably next Monday.

Due for definite action in the senate was the Bankhead bill to

REPORT NAZIS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS IN BATTLE

Russians Also Drive Another Wedge Toward Smolensk; Retake 32 Towns.

By The Associated Press

Soviet headquarters claimed victory over the Germans today in a giant tank battle for control of the Donets river valley below Kharkov, while on the central front the Red armies swept into more than 32 towns and villages in their drive toward the Nazi keystone fortress at Smolensk.

Dispatches from the Donets sector reported tank-led Soviet troops, rallying after their retreat from Kharkov, destroyed a force of German tanks and trucks and then stormed an enemy-occupied village where 200 Nazis were killed.

"The Germans were hurled back with great losses," the Red army command announced.

The Red army also smashed another wedge westward toward the German key base at Smolensk. It was announced in the Soviet noon communique, with the capture of the railroad station of Igorlevskaya and the district center of Velchody.

In the south around Kharkov the Germans massed a great number of tanks and motorized infantry, supported by a strong force of dive bombers, in a major effort to cross the northern Donets south of the fallen Ukraine city.

Report Furious Fighting

Furious fighting was reported through the small elbow of the river near Izyum, 70 miles southeast of Kharkov.

The weather and land conditions were reported good for mechanized warfare and it was indicated the current struggle was as fierce as anything which has taken place in months.

(The German high command, in a communique broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by The Associated Press, said "the enemy forces encircled southeast of Kharkov were compressed in the narrowest area [illegible] and are approaching their annihilation.")

By taking Igorlevskaya, 25 miles north of Durovo on a spur railway branching off from the main Smolensk-Vyazma line, the Russians added another town to their triumphant march west of the Dnieper river.

Durovo is midway between Vyazma and Smolensk on the main rail line.

The Soviet army apparently has a considerable force west of the Dnieper.

The advances were contested bitterly by the Germans, the communique said.

Other Settlements Taken

"The enemy is trying to hold on to his defenses and is putting up a fierce resistance and forming new defense lines," it declared.

A number of other settlements were captured as German resistance was overcome, and two heavy counterattacks in one sector were crushed with the killing of about 300 Germans, the Russians said.

In the continuing battle on the Donets river southeast of Kharkov, the Russians said they had destroyed a force of enemy tanks and trucks, and then stormed a German-occupied village, catching the enemy soldiers by surprise still inside houses.

Villagers aided them in rounding up the Germans, 200 of whom were killed, it was declared.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Red army newspaper, asserted Soviet troops remained in force on the west bank of the Donets in numerous places and in these positions they have the initiative. Fighting now was raging, it was reported, for expansion of these Soviet-held footholds, while German attempts to cross the river in other sectors were repulsed.

Northwest of Kharkov, the Russians said they were pushing back German counterattacks west of Sevsk which lies about 80 miles south of Bryansk, toward which Russian troops previously were reported driving from the Vyazma area.

In the offensive against Staraya Russa, the noon bulletin said Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's troops smashed through to a highroad which connects two large towns, destroying 66 enemy blockhouses and dugouts in their advance and wiping out about a battalion of Germans.

Russian troops have swept into 32 more towns south of Bely and have taken a number of villages elsewhere on the front west of Moscow, the Soviet midnight communique said.

ARCHITECT FOR MARION HOSPITAL AIDS BOND DRIVE

T. D. McLaughlin Shares In Honor Given Allen County.

Thomas D. McLaughlin, head of the Lima architectural firm retained by the Marion City hospital building commission for construction of a temporary hospital addition, shared in the honor given Allen county for being the state's "champion war bond county" for February, a news report from the War Savings Staff for Ohio headquarters in Cleveland shows.

That county's selection for February was announced by Harold H. Bredlow, executive secretary of the state staff. Summit and Franklin counties received honorable mention for the month.

"Regional chairman, T. D. McLaughlin, Allen County War Savings chairman, Adam J. Grismer, the local committee, and all residents of the county are to be congratulated on their all-out efforts that resulted in having their county chosen Pacemaker County of the state for February," Mr. Bredlow said. The state's other 87 counties likewise did a fine job in selling war bonds during the month. He reported the month's total war bond sales for Ohio were $39,383,756.25.

Total war bond sales in Allen county since the start of the campaign amount to almost $6,500,000, according to Mr. Bredlow. February sales totaled $510,750, against a quota of $411,000.

Allen is the eighth Ohio county to receive special recognition in the sale of war bonds, Mahoning winning it in July, Medina in August, Montgomery in September, Harrison in October, Richland in November, Cuyahoga in December, and Ashtabula in January.

Marion Seaman On Navy's List of Missing

James Wilson Smith, son of Mrs. Chloe Ward of 303 West Center street, is among the men of the U. S. merchant marine listed as missing in the Navy's official casualty list for the month of February released today at Washington, D. C., The Associated Press reports.

Mrs. Ward was notified Feb. 22 her son was missing and The Star carried an account of the report at that time. The family has received no word from the Navy department since that time. Smith, prior to his enlistment in January, had been employed as a guard on the Great Lakes.

The report stated that there had been 288 casualties in the United States merchant marine, including six dead and 282 missing, during February.

This brings the total U. S. merchant marine casualties reported to next of kin since Sept. 27, 1941, to 3,905, including 515 dead, and 3,390 missing.

Today's list of missing included three Ohioans.

Czechoslovakian Native Talks To Women's Group

A FASCINATING story of Czechoslovakia and the part women have played in its history was told by Dr. Vera Beck, native Czechoslovakian, now a member of the faculty at Lake Erie college, at a meeting of the Marion Association of University Women last evening in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. Dr. Beck came to the United States as an exchange student, studying at Rockford college and was teaching in her native country when the war broke out. She has been in this country since early in 1939. Her talk last evening was the first she has given in Ohio, she said.

March, Dr. Beck said, has several memorable dates for the Czechs, since it is the birthday anniversary of the first president of the country and of the invasion by Nazi troops, as well as marking the anniversary of the annihilation last year of more than 1,000 of its people. She described her country as new, yet old historically and politically. Lying in the heart of Central Europe the country is second in density of population in Europe. Referring to the past as "more pleasant," Dr. Beck traced the country's history, culturally, politically and educationally before taking up the subject of the part women have played in its history.

Women played a great part in the program of education in Czechoslovakia and as early as 1912 the Czechs elected a woman to parliament in Vienna. As soon as the republic was founded in 1918 women were given the same rights as men, Dr. Beck stated.

During a question period Dr. Beck told her audience that all industry has been stopped completely now and people taken away. All institutions of higher learning have been closed and elementary schools are studying books provided by the Germans.

Preceding Dr. Beck's talk Miss Ruth Kleinmaier gave a short talk on the Girl Scout campaign and stressed the need for Girl Scout leaders in Marion.

She was introduced by Gertrude Mann, program chairman for the meeting. The speaker also answered questions following her talk.

State Patrol Head Addresses Galion Group

Special to The Star

GALION, March 17 — Guest speaker for the Galion Kiwanis meeting Tuesday at Hotel Talbott was Col. Lynn Black of Columbus, director of the Ohio state highway patrol. He reviewed the organization of the state patrol and its functions during the war emergencies. For 21 years Col. Black has been in police work, and has been head of the state patrol since its inception nearly 10 years ago. The patrol, he said, had grown from 60 to nearly 300 members, but now has been reduced to 195 members since Pearl Harbor.

The department has 15 of its members trained as instructors in various types of protection work, and has since cooperated with utilities, defense plants in aiding in the protection of their properties, teaching of first aid, and best means of evacuation in case of disaster. The training of these men was given several years ago in anticipation of an emergency in the nation.

The bride's maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Betty Morrow of Marion, and Kenneth Foos of York Center served as best man.

Miss Clark chose a two-piece twill suit in a powder blue shade, accented with large flowered transparant buttons. Her hat was in a rose shade with which she wore a black veil and her corsage held sweet peas and roses. Miss Morrow was costumed in a two piece dress of aqua crepe with which she wore a black hat and her gardenia corsage matched the flowers on her hat. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Hill wore navy blue costumes and corsages of yellow roses.

A family dinner at the home of the bride's parents was followed by a small reception and later they left on a short wedding trip.

The bride was graduated from Harding High school in 1936 and has been employed at the county relief office for the last five and one-half years. Lt. Hill received his commission at the graduation exercises at Fort Sill, Okla., last Thursday. Prior to entering officers training he was stationed in the Panama area for 10 months. He is in the field artillery and will be stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., where his bride will join him in the near future. He was graduated from the York Center High school in 1935 and later attended Ohio State university.

WOMAN NAMED ASSOCIATE WAR SAVINGS STAFF HEAD

Miss Katherine Fox Appointed To State Post.

CLEVELAND, O., March 17—Harold H. Bredlow, executive secretary of the Ohio War Savings Staff, today announced appointment of Miss Katherine Fox of Cincinnati as an associate administrator of the state War Savings staff.

Mr. Bredlow said Miss Fox, who will retain her business association as coordinator of war activities at Radio Stations WLW and WSAI, will serve as a "$1-a-year" appointee in conjunction with the War Savings Staff Women's Division.

Miss Fox will assume her new duties immediately, concerned chiefly with enlisting the support of the Ohio Women's clubs groups, etc., for the War Bond program.

In announcing Miss Fox's addition to the state staff, Mr. Bredlow called attention to the constantly expanding activities of women in various war efforts.

"With more and more men leaving for the fighting front, women will have to play an increasingly large part in the War Savings program. I am confident they will do this," Mr. Bredlow said.

Club Federation Heads Hear Home Front Talks

TALKS on women's activities on the home front and plans for the annual community fine arts day to be held during the early part of May were given at the monthly board meeting of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday in the recreation room of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Mark W. Sawyer, president, presided and speakers included Miss Margaret Baker, director of Women Volunteers for Defense and Service for the Ohio State Council of Defense, and Mrs. Helen Burggraf of Cardington, state farmer's wife woman, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Arts Day Program

The community fine arts day will be in the form of a tea this year and will be held at Hotel Harding the afternoon and evening of May 6. Soloists here for the presentation of the oratorio, "The Creation," by the Marion Civic chorus, will contribute to a musical program in the afternoon and there will be exhibits, flower displays, art, moving pictures and other activities promising a worthwhile day. Tickets for the affair will be placed in the hands of club presidents for distribution.

Ribbons designating honorable mention will be awarded in the flower arrangements and aside from this, awards will not be made in any exhibits or displays this year. Creative work in painting and sculpture by local artists will be on display and the committee is asking that artists and persons having painting or sculptures by [illegible] be asked to have the pieces framed. This will be in charge of Mrs. W. C. Beatty, assisted by antiques. Sculpture may be wood carving, soap metal [illegible] material. As in former years the club women are asked to [illegible] the theory, portraiture, short stories, poems and plays. There also [illegible] and Junior Red Cross [illegible].

Victory Garden Session

Mrs. Ethel Cochran of LaRue, AAA field woman, announced an educational meeting stressing Victory gardening to be held Tuesday afternoon, and presented Mrs. Burggraf who talked on the work of the farm and city women in the war program at home. She pointed out that help will be scarce on the farm this coming season and suggested as times when the town woman could lend a hand to her rural neighbor in the peak harvest season, cooking for threshers, combines and silo fillers, and times when the farm wife leaves her work to help out by driving a tractor. School boys and girls also can lend a hand on the farm during vacation, she pointed out.

Institute Announced

Mrs. Baker discussed the three-day institute to be held at The Star auditorium March 30, 31 and April 1, when instructors will be trained for conducting classes for housewives in how to prepare [illegible] against enemy [illegible] and to cooperate with the [illegible] Defense Corps.

Fifty dollars was [illegible] the Red Cross, and Mrs. Krauss reported that [illegible] the 400 [illegible] bags for service requested, the club women [illegible] and provided article [illegible] 600. These will be shipped soon as some of the articles [illegible] ed are received. Mrs. Ba[illegible] chairman for the work of [illegible] in the federation, asked all clubs have their sales re[illegible] at the earliest possible time.

PROSPECT CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Charles Collmer gave a talk on American sculptors illustrated with pictures when the Arts club of Prospect met in the home of Mrs. Harry Gast Monday night. Miss Dorothy Ho[illegible] led devotions.

REASON FOR LOSSES IN AFRICA REVEALED

American Commanders Study Cause of Feb. 14 Defeat.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, March 17—The Americans lost their first major battle with the German Army in Tunisia fighting Feb. 14-17 because an error in intelligence led to a faulty disposition of forces, the official version of the defeat indicated yesterday.

An official spokesman in outlining the day-by-day development of the battle during which the Germans reached the outskirts of Thala, key to the northern Tunisian plateau, conceded American losses in material had been "very heavy."

"Our intelligence at the start of the battle was faulty in that we were convinced the Germans would make their main effort at Pichon, instead of farther south at Faid, as they did," the spokesman said.

"For this reason a strong American combat team was kept in the mountains northwest of Pinchon ready to counter this thrust."

At the time the battle started with Marshal Erwin Rommel's thrust out of Faid pass on Sunday morning, Feb. 14, the Americans had two mixed combat teams stationed at Hadjed El Aioun, north of Faid pass, and at Sidi Bouzid to the south of the pass. There also was a mixed team of infantry and artillery and a small armored force at Gafsa, still farther south in the Chott Djerid area.

There also were some battalions of infantry at Feriana, to the rear of Faid pass.

Using about 150 tanks, the Germans attacked through three passes in the vicinity of Faid on the morning of the 14th. One group of 20 tanks came directly out of Faid pass. Another group of 50 came out of a pass to the north of Faid, catching the infantry at Djebel Lessouda, six miles west of Faid, in the rear, a third group of 30 came out of a pass south of Faid, below Sidi Bouzid. The rest of the tanks, about 50, were in reserve.

By counting the armored combat command in the north, above Pichon, the Americans had an equal number of tanks, but they were not concentrated to meet the German attack, the spokesman said.

"By 7:15 a. m. the German tanks had overrun our artillery position at Djebel Lessouda. The rest of our combat team attacked, but lost heavily," he added.

CHARGE OHIOAN SENT BROTHER TO ARMY CALL

Pike County Man Put Under Arrest.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—A 27-year-old Pike County, O., man was held here yesterday on a federal warrant charging he caused his 14-year-old brother to substitute for him in a draft call.

The warrant was sworn Monday at Cincinnati by U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan against James Roy Owens, who was arrested Sunday shortly after the brother, Ellis, was brought here from New Orleans after being arrested on a charge of being absent without leave.

Alan H. Belmont, acting chief of the Cincinnati FBI office, said Ellis was inducted into the army at Huntington, W. Va., in the place of his older brother and later transferred to New Orleans where he went AWOL.

The warrant against James Roy Owens charged he failed to report for induction and induced his brother to appear instead.

Spokesmen at Fort Hayes said no action against Ellis would be taken until affidavits proving his age were received.

Pre-Victory Post-War Conference

SENATE discussion of the bi-partisan proposal for a pre-victory post-war conference of United Nations representatives should be helpful. At least it would reveal what the upper house of congress thinks are the most important post-war problems.

If the proposal were adopted, moreover, and a conference held, the question of post-war organization would become considerably more than an academic discussion conducted by visionaries. The effect would be good.

More than anything else, it is the probable realities of the period after the war that need attention. Visions and hopes and dreams are a dime a dozen. But the cold truth is that the post-war world is going to be the pre-war world, with some new scars of combat added.

Brotherly love and sweetness and light will exist in approximately the same ratios as always, which is to say they will not be overwhelming. This is a fact that must be faced. The United States discovered to its sorrow after World war I that Woodrow Wilson's idealism was not enough to parry the thrusts of the hard-headed men whose prototypes may be expected to constitute a majority at the peace conference after this war, too. It is curiously significant that the proposal for an early beginning of that momentous event has come from the Senate, which refused to ratify the compromise post-war plan submitted to it by President Wilson.

No Substitute for Hitler

THE strange silence of Adolf Hitler is getting official attention. Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, has talked about it at a press conference. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, says it is a matter of speculation in Great Britain. German Propaganda Minister Goebbels is quoted in the Swedish press to the effect that Hitler has given up supreme command of the German army, though Goebbels denies that anything is wrong with the fuehrer's health.

Meanwhile, the matter of adjusting war feeling if something has happened to Hitler is beginning to get unofficial attention. If it turns out that Hitler has faded from the scene as the personal leader of the German war effort, a sweeping revision of war thinking is going to become necessary. There is no substitute for Hitler as a personal symbol. The burden of war guilt would have to be shifted from his shoulders to a broader basis. It would be plain that the war was not his personal responsibility, but was being waged by Germany's leaders, including the members of the military caste. Gone forever would be the convenient fallacy that Hitler is the enemy and that if Hitler could be destroyed the war would be over.

Strike Two!

MAJOR league baseball is off to a limping start with two called strikes against it and no balls, except a victory model doctored to make it almost as good as the "rabbit" ball that helped Babe Ruth and the other stars of the slugging era. Even the training camp ballyhoo will have to be doctored this year, because the players are toning up their muscles close to home plate.

There's some question whether the season the surviving players hope to open can be concluded. In fact, everything about professional baseball for its survivors is questionable, except one thing. Nothing that could disappear from the home scene, next to home itself, would be missed more than the game that traditionally bemuses Americans from April to October each year. If the game has to be played in empty parks by pensioners on crutches, its value as a psychological stabilizer is still worth the effort. Apparently, baseball can expect no special favors as an enterprise, but that is not going to stop it. Two strikes and no balls is a tough spot, but while there's one more pitch there's hope.

For Want of a Nail

BARRY FARIS, editor-in-chief for International News Service, has reported a conversation with a general in the South Pacific while he was inspecting INS facilities in that area. The general presumably an extremely well known one who recently expressed confidence in the ability of air power to lead the way to Tokyo, said he could do the job with two days' production of planes a month. Lacking them, he will do the best he can, aware that the Japs will be tremendously strong if given another year to consolidate their positions.

First impulse is to accuse the government of mismanaging distribution of airplane production. But second thought is to acknowledge that the government undoubtedly is sending as many planes to the South Pacific as it can and that the solution is to increase total plane production to the point where the fraction of the output that famous general is receiving will do the job he is anxious to get on with as rapidly as possible.

News Behind the News

Dewey Seen as Opposed to Any Attempt by Willkie To Win New York Delegation.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 17 — Some readers have asked why the New York state Republican delegation could be counted to support Gov. Bricker at this early date as to give him clearly the best chance to be the 1944 nominee (as disclosed in yesterday's column.) Nothing in politics could be surer a year in advance.

It seems that Gov. Dewey does not like Wendell Willkie—drastically. Theirs is not a temporary break and cannot be patched. Dewey himself is not a candidate. The sincerity of his declination is not only suggested by his words, but proved by his actions. This situation is accepted as genuine by all New York state politicians in the know.

But there is one thing which would put Dewey into the race. If Willkie runs, or has a good chance to get, any delegates in New York state, Dewey will declare himself or permit himself to be drafted, which has come to mean the same thing. It is therefore a foregone conclusion that New York's massive bloc of 96 votes will go to Bricker (where they are already wending their way) or Dewey will act to keep them out of Willkie's hands.

Still In Picture

Dewey must not be counted entirely out of the '44 picture. Those around him believe his eye will not glance in the direction of the White House until '48, but if the next national convention should happen to reach a deadlock between Bricker and Willkie, as seems unlikely now, the convention would no doubt turn determinedly to Dewey.

Some readers were likewise surprised by the suggestion that Mr. Roosevelt might have a hard time being renominated for a fourth term today. A fair, authentic, inside survey of states would disclose the difficulties to all conclusively.

While the south outwardly seems looking for some anti-Roosevelt place to go, destinations have already been chosen in some instances. While in others, the opposition minds have met sufficiently to clarify their state prospects. For specific details—Texas would probably go today to its governor as favorite son; Louisiana and Mississippi would go uninstructed, possibly (but not certainly) also Alabama. Georgia might well go to Senator George. Virginia would surely go to Senator Byrd and Maryland probably to Tydings. Florida, South Carolina (the Byrnes-Maybank-Barnum influence?) North Carolina and Kentucky look like Roosevelt possibilities, while Tennessee is doubtful. (Mr. Crump has not spoken yet, but he is restless.)

Farley

Elsewhere the Democratic party opposition to the fourth term is likely to center around Jim Farley and favorite sons more or less friendly to Farley. As Democratic chairman of New York, Farley has a bag of votes in the President's home state and could get (if he does not already have) substantial support from Massachusetts, Connecticut, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Rocky Mountain area, Pennsylvania (beyond Guffey territory), New Jersey (beyond Hague), southern Illinois (beyond Kelly) and many other states where his friends are in local control. Senator Bennett Clark should get Missouri, Wheeler Montana, McNutt (if he is fired) Indiana.

All this adds up to serious intra-party opposition to the nomination—a nomination which must appear to come eagerly seeking Mr. Roosevelt if it is to carry any prestige. Indeed, the essential reason offered for the fourth term nomination is that the party wants it. A victory at the convention by 55 per cent of the vote, or in the face of any substantial opposition, would hardly be. In keeping with the promise on which it is based—especially as Republicans are organized so thoroughly throughout the country and have a good chance to win anyway.

Certainly the necessary driving power is still missing within the Democratic party, for the fourth term movement. No less prominent a Democratic figure, former Gov. James Cox of Ohio, has let it be said under the editorial masthead of one of his newspapers:

"This question (fourth term) can well wait at least a year. The American people will cross that bridge when they see the water. The bulls-eye of our every endeavor must be to win this war and to win it in ways and methods clearly above the suspicion of politics."

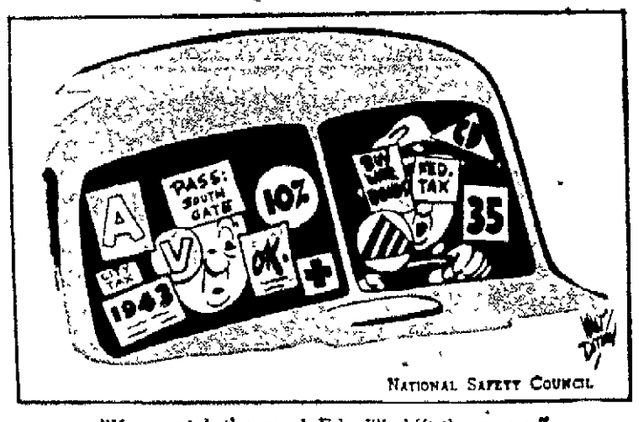
Auto Sticker Problem

It's Becoming Serious; Here Are Safety Council Suggestions.



"You watch the road, Ed—I'll shift the gears."

"HOW can I paste all these stickers on my windshield and still see where I'm going?"

Many a wartime motorist has uttered that wail as sticker after sticker, of all sizes and descriptions, has been handed him—each with the stern injunction that it be displayed prominently on his windshield.

It is a situation that has provided radio comedians and cartoonists with many a gag. But the driver is beginning to wonder if it's really funny. For one thing, he's running out of windshield. For another, there is a definite accident hazard involved.

The National Safety Council, therefore, has turned its attention to the problem, and its committee on special enforcement problems has come up with a set of suggestions as to how the bewildered driver can obey the law and still get where he's going in one piece.

The committee, composed of leading traffic enforcement officials from state and city police throughout the country, is headed by Don F. Stiver, superintendent of the Indiana State Police.

It points out in its report that, while federal, state and city officials are vitally interested in preventing traffic accidents and thereby expediting war traffic, these same agencies nevertheless are steadily adding to the number of identifying stickers that must be displayed on windshields of cars and trucks.

Some Mandatory

To begin with, drivers are required to reserve windshield space for a federal vehicle use stamp, a mileage rationing identification stamp and for official inspection stickers required by states and cities.

In addition, many states and cities are solving the war-time metal problem by issuing stickers instead of license plates for 1943.

Also, many Army bases, Navy yards and war production plants require the display of a sticker as a pass to permit the vehicle to enter or leave a guarded area. Still other stickers are being distributed to indicate membership in the 10 per cent payroll reduction plan, participation in car pools and for admission to industrial parking lots.

Put all these together and you have a display that a pre-war souvenir-minded tourist would have envied.

The council committee realizes that under wartime conditions most of these stickers are necessary. But it does believe that definite limitation should be imposed as to the number, size and place of display. It believes, too, that the average motorist doesn't give enough thought to displaying the stickers so that they obscure the minimum amount of vision.

List of Suggestions

It offers the following suggestions:

1. Utilize the space at the top center of the windshield, directly in front of the rear vision mirror, for attachment of the federal vehicle use stamp. One other small-sized sticker may be placed in the adjoining position without causing additional vision obscurement, since this space is already covered by the mirror. It is suggested also that this second space be reserved for the sticker which serves as an identification pass for Army bases, Navy yards, war plants, etc. Such a sticker, however, should be limited in size to two inches square.

2. Stickers used to indicate payment of vehicle fees to states and cities and to show compliance with motor vehicle inspection regulations, should be placed on the bottom edge of the windshield, starting at the extreme lower right corner. The maximum size suggested for any sticker is three inches square.

3. Mileage ration identification stamps should be placed on the left rear side window. In the case of trucks, where such placement is not possible, these stamps should be carried on the left rear window of the cab. This facilitates a check when gas is purchased.

4. Eliminate all stickers not actually required to be displayed on the motor vehicle.

5. No sticker of any type should be displayed on the windshield or windows of any motor vehicle without approval as to need, size and placement by the state department in which the authority for such approval is vested.

By following these suggestions the committee on special enforcement problems believes the driving war worker, whose safety is so necessary to the all-out war effort, can eliminate a definite driving hazard.

Rhoads' recipe is designed for large-scale feeding but he passes it along to American housewives:

Take 10 pounds of sugar, 7½ pounds of lard, five ounces of salt and cream the ingredients. Then add 34 pounds of flour, 1½ pounds of baking powder and two gallons of milk. Can't Lose Wives

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — There is one peculiar difference between the Ethiopian army, now standing guard in Haile Selassie's restored kingdom, and other armies.

The Ethiopians are allowed to have their wives with them in the barracks.

British sources here, unveiling the existence of a modern, mechanized army in Ethiopia, also made known that when a rookie takes up the martial life over there, he doesn't necessarily give up the marital.

The Ethiopian army has been "built from scratch" by a British military mission under Major General Stephen Seymour Butler, who has spent a lifetime as a soldier in Africa.

It is composed of infantry, artillery, field company engineers and field works companies, signal, motor transport, ordnance and supply units. A regiment of armored cars is being formed to round out a force which aims at mobility on roads, in mountains or brush.

When the army moves, the wives move with it.

The Ethiopian soldier, in addition to liking his wife along on route marches, has another idiosyncrasy, these sources say—a tremendous loyalty to his immediate superior officer which doesn't extend any further. If the officer is transferred, the entire platoon or company often asks to be transferred with him.

Nearly all British troops have been withdrawn from Ethiopia, first allied nation to be taken from axis hands. The few British who remain are assigned under treaty to guard such strategic points as the Jibuti railroad and Addis Ababa.

Meanwhile, the Ethiopian army moves toward modernization. Without murmur, the soldiers agreed to having their long fuzzy hair cut short. They wear green berets.

Peace can come only with righteousness. The world was not ready for peace, we would not pay the price in watchfulness and sacrifice. Washington Isn't Interested. But We Still Think Our Boys' Names Should Be in the Paper.

By DAMON RUNYON

I HAVE addressed my parishioneers before on the subject of the anonymity of the with reference to our fighting forces. T some of it has been good enough to prove my earmarks, I regret to state that far the master minds in Washington have ored them.

A heavy pall of censorial silence contin to hang over matters on which I think people should be informed. I think it w add to public morale to permit the war co respondents to have the same leeway in publication of the whereabouts and activ of specific divisions and other units of service that they had in World war I. exce of course in instances where the informati could be of value to the enemy.

But in nearly all instances after our troo have confronted the enemy for a brief per he is as well aware of their identity as we of his. In fact, he often mentions it in communiques, which in this war is about only time our people get an inkling of t whereabouts of their boys. I am sure t our censors are not dumb enough to think after one of our divisions is in action, the ene is in doubt on any point of information ab that division.

THE enemy's intelligence department is ge erally as good as ours, and ours can tell in short order every detail concerning an o posing force. I say that when one of our un distinguishes itself on any front, it would a good thing to exploit the fact, because b sides informing the people of the whereabou of their sons, it would arouse sectional interes and pride in the different outfits.

In World war I, our military censors we strong on secrecy as to the identity of the d visions in France, until it became appare that keeping names out of the papers at hom did not befuddle the enemy on that point Thereafter the correspondents made the variou divisions household words in the United Stat and each section gloried in its own.

Under the present system, an epic exploi such as was performed by the "lost battalio of the 77th division would be buried und anonymity. The only outfit in this war who whereabouts was never much of a myste is the marines in the Solomons—but then y never can lose the marines. However, the ide tity of the soldier divisions that relieved t marines on Guadalcanal has not been reveale though the Japs probably know it.

THE publication of the names of individu officers and men is permitted, if they ha done something worthwhile, which in its would defeat the purpose of the secrecy abo units. If that purpose is to deceive the enem you let one of our intelligence officers re the name of an individual of the enemy forc and he will soon tell you the identity of th individual's unit, if he feels the informati may be of value.

I hope I make it clear that my idea is th our people should be able to follow their bo more closely through the newspaper repor from the various fronts to develop section interest and enthusiasm. I would not, of cour contend for the revelation of the slightest of information that would assist the enemy, b I do not believe that it would be of any assi ance to him to learn that the umpty-ump di ion from a certain section of the U. S. A. w the one that kicked his head off, while it wou be news to cheer the relatives and friends the members of that division.

Chinese Rub for Art

By JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK—When you were very you perhaps you took the nickel Uncle Albert g you and covered it with paper, and then bla ened the paper with the pencil you stole fr your father's desk.

The result was a shaded reproduction of raised figures on the nickel. Important che because it did not lower the trading value the coin. But in China similar rubbings co under the heading of art. There is a large c lection of them now at the Brooklyn museum

The Chinese began making rubbings shor after Confucius' time because the then empe had ordered the Confucian texts carved on st to preserve their purity through the centur and stones are unhandy to carry about for stu So a way to reproduce them exactly was wor out.

For tens of centuries, a tough, absorbent paper has been used. The paper is laid on stone, moistened, and pushed into the pre with a clean pad or a brush. It then dries the point where it is almost ready to pull aw from the stone.

Just before this happens, the artist dips a la round pad into ink which has been ground water. He pats the paper deftly with the in pad, removes it and presses it flat. The des is copied exactly.

The trick is to pat firmly, but evenly—oth wise the ink is too strong in spots and product valueless.

More than ancient texts and medals are o served by the rubbing method. Relief from caves at Lung Men, carved before 534 A are now casualties of war except for the m rubbings that have been made from them time, unfortunately, the Japs are not to ma

WHY PUT UP WITH CONSTIPATION?

If you suffer from that common form of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet, dosing yourself with harsh cathartics and laxatives will give you only temporary relief.

However, adding KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to your regular diet and drinking plenty of water will not only get at the cause of such constipation, but will correct it.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a delicious breakfast cereal that, unlike medicinal purges, doesn't work chiefly on you—but works principally on the contents of your colon.

Try KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, eat as directed, see if it doesn't help you, too!

Germans Willing To Pay Heavily To Take Kharkov

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Germans are paying a high price in men and material for their reoccupation of the great railway center of Kharkov, and for development of the bloody supporting operation to the south along the winding basin of the Donets river, but it likely will be worth the sacrifice if they are able to hold the new line.

It will be worth it because, as I forecast last week, this fierce offensive through the gluey mud of the rapidly thawing Donets region is calculated to prevent the Nazi ring wing being torn from its anchor at Rostov on the Don, by the sea of Azov. (And you need your maps, please). Should this anchor give way the Nazi right flank would be rolled back by the Reds with no telling how great a disaster for the Hitlerites.

The Nazis have achieved this advance through sheer weight of men, tanks and air support. It is a significant demonstration of the fact that Hitler (or is he gibbering and sticking straws in his hair at Berchtesgaden?) still possesses vast striking-power in his army. That wehrmacht is the greatest single obstacle remaining between the allies and victory, and it's going to take some smashing.

Strength to Waste

However, despite this strength the Nazis have none to waste. Only stern necessity would impel the German high command to take the velvet out of a fresh force of first-line troops by making them attack through the sea of gumbo. Only stern necessity (or confidence) would induce the Germans to withdraw twelve armored divisions from western Europe while the danger of invasion existed there.

The necessity was to protect that right flank, and the operation therefore is primarily defensive.

Of course, the Nazis might strike again for the Caucasus if things look good when the ground has dried. Still, while they are opportunists of the first water, there isn't much to support the idea that they have definite plans for an offensive that far ahead.

Another Tin Shipment Scheduled Here Soon

With an estimated two truckloads of tin cans still to be collected in Round 3 of the systematic collection, it looks like Marion housewives will have contributed enough tin cans to fill a small railroad car for a second shipment to the de-tinning plant, Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell said this morning.

A small freight car, if one can be ordered, will hold approximately 18 tons. A few weeks ago Marion sent its first carload, a large shipment of 25 tons.

Heavy rain yesterday made it impossible to complete the collection, Mr. Caldwell said.

Round 4 has been set for the week of April 12. The pick-up schedule will be announced several days in advance.

POST-WAR POLICE FORCE PROPOSED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—A proposal for a post-war international police force—already the subject of congressional controversy—was introduced yesterday by Senator Ball (R-Minn) as the only practical means of "controlling the plague of war."

Speaking for himself and three other sponsors, Ball told the senate attempts to maintain peace through balance of power diplomacy, imperialism, pacts and treaties "all have failed."

"It is our conviction," he declared, "and we believe it is shared by the overwhelming majority of the American people and the members of this senate, that an organization of peace-loving nations of the world with authority and power to stop any future attempts at military aggression offers the best hope for maintaining the peace and stability of the world after this war."

GIRL SCOUT AND SCHOOL MUSIC PROGRAM GIVEN

Speakers and Student Sextet Heard by Rotarians.

Talks about the Girl Scouts and public school music and selections played by a sextet of Harding High musicians made up the program of the Marion Rotary club in its weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding yesterday.

Girl Scout speakers appeared in behalf of Marion's part in the nationwide campaign now under way to enlist adult leaders in the service of the organization. The speakers were Miss Ruth Kramer, deputy commissioner of Girl Scouts in Marion, and Miss Edith Treat the organization's executive officer here. Both briefly reviewed the Girl Scout program of activities and its vital part in helping prepare the members for adult life as well as the community service performed by the organizations. Rotarians were asked to encourage women of their families and in the families of friends to enlist for Girl Scout leadership. Printed reports of the organization's activities, both nationally and in Marion, were distributed among the Rotarians.

Homer Huffman, instructor of instrumental music in the Marion schools, spoke on music training among pupils and called attention to the important place music has in the national life, in peacetime as well as in wartime. He said 375 school pupils are now receiving instrumental music training.

During the club's luncheon hour selections were played by a brass instrument sextet made up of Eleanor Jean Myers, Jack Loeffert, Bob Boyd, Melbourne Donough, William Wetterauer and Sanford Lane.

In addition to the speakers and musicians, Kenneth E. Fields was a guest of Rotary.

GREEN OPPOSES DRAFT OF LABOR

AFL Chieftain Testifies Before Senate Committee.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—Declaring the Austin-Wadsworth bill to draft civilian workers raises an issue of "free labor versus slave labor," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, opposed the legislation today as imposing "involuntary servitude" on the nation's man and womanpower.

Appearing at a senate military committee hearing on the measure, the AFL chieftain said he assumed it "is predicated on the assumption that there is a dire necessity for compulsory labor in order effectively to prosecute the war."

"I categorically deny the truth of that assumption," he added.

"It is my firm and studied conviction that such delays as there have been were prompted by conflicting governmental policies and not by failure of any segment of our working population voluntarily to perform the jobs that have to be done."

PENALTY OF $3,890 PUT ON OHIO WHEAT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 17 — Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood got up his Irish (or the Yankee equivalent thereof) this St. Patrick's day on learning Uncle Sam had assessed Ohio institutions $3,890 in penalties for raising excess wheat in 1941.

"We won't pay it," said Sherwood crisply.

"Ohio institution farms are operated as a unit under this department," he added. "Triple-A wheat quotas are established within counties. We raised wheat on only 12 of our 17 farms in 1941, planning wheat and other crops on a basis of land suitability.

"Quotas were set up in the different counties for our farms. However, our total production did not exceed the aggregate quota of all institution farms."

stop the drafting of farm workers into the armed forces. It was to be voted on this afternoon, with its sponsors predicting prompt passage. A substitute measure to recruit a mobile national emergency workers corps was to be considered first.

Speedy senate approval also was predicted generally for legislation which would set aside the President's executive order limiting salaries to $25,000 a year after taxes. Riding the bill to authorize an increase in the national debt limit, the repealer would prohibit the President from trimming salaries below the highest point they reached between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15, 1942.

ATHLETICS SUSPENDED

TOLEDO, March 17 — Athletics are to be eliminated from the University of Toledo for the duration of the war, the board of directors voted last night. Although Dr. Clarence W. Fishing Season Opens But Catch Doubtful

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 17—Lake Erie's 1943 commercial fishing season was under way today, but how far this year's catch would go toward relieving meat scarcities was problematical.

Twelve boats left Cleveland harbor yesterday to open the season. A Vermilion fishery has begun operations and Ashtabula, Sandusky and Conneaut fishermen are expected to go out soon. The oil burner Mascot left Sandusky after Kelley's Island residents reported conditions there would permit it to dock.

Fishermen said the industry was troubled with manpower shortage, present regulations prohibit replacement of nets, priorities limit twine and steel materials and there's no indication of how good the season's catch also might be.

POLICE GUARD ROONEY AFTER PHONE THREAT

Actor Warned, "We" Murder You at Midnight.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, March 17—Police said they were guarding Mickey Rooney at an undisclosed place early today, after his father told detectives he had received a telephoned threat against the 21-year-old actor's life.

But Mickey's mother, Mrs. Nell Pankey, and a studio spokesman said they were inclined to believe the calls came from a crank or a prankster, and were of no consequence.

Joe Yule, Rooney's father, reported a youthful voice, perhaps that of a boy, called Yule's North Hollywood home last night and asked for Rooney, said Detective Lt. William Ellingson.

Yule said he impersonated Mickey when a second call came shortly afterward, and that the voice said "We'll murder you at 12 tonight."

Nothing happened at midnight, police declared, but Ellinson and Det. Lt. E. J. Long were assigned to guard Rooney.

Army officers disclosed Monday night that Rooney had been rejected for military service after undergoing a physical examination last week.

RESTRICTIONS ON TIRES TO BE EASED APRIL 1

More Grade II Casings To Be Available.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17 — Grade II tires will be available April 1 to motorists with gasoline mileage allowances exceeding 240 miles a month—which means most B, C and T card holders.

At the same time, Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said late yesterday, a limited number of Grade I tires—highest grade casings—will be available for those with allowances of 560 or more miles a month.

The action was Brown's second liberalization of the tire rationing restrictions, and was made possible, he said, by the release of additional tires by Rubber Administrator William Jeffers. He said Jeffers has increased the quota of Grade I tires from 321,827 in March to 540,000 in April, Grade II tires from 253,000 to 540,000, and truck tires from 290,000 to 300,000.

Another change added tires that fit a 17-inch rim to the "obsolete" list—those obtainable by any one eligible for a B or better book, even though he may only have an A book.

All tires, however, still must be obtained with local ration board certificates.

LOS ANGELES SOUNDS FIRST DAY ALERT

Mayor Bowron Says City Behaves Badly.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 17 — This sprawling city and its satellites have experienced their first daylight air raid alert of the war, and most of the populace seemed disturbed only by the lack of excitement.

When the all-clear sounded at 2:07 p. m. (PWT) yesterday, 47 minutes after the sirens started screeching, Mayor Fletcher Bowron and many citizens were distinctly disappointed—for different reasons.

Said the mayor:

"We would face a real disaster in Los Angeles if this disregard of our raid precautions were repeated in time of real danger."

Said one of the thwarted sky gazers who technically should have been in an air raid shelter:

"Shucks! I wish we could have seen some action!"

In government buildings and some downtown stores, air raid procedure was followed effectively. But elsewhere:

Thousands rushed to sidewalks and rooftops to watch American defense planes prowl the upper reaches for the target, later identified as friendly. Traffic generally rolled on. In some cases where auxiliary police halted autos they reported regular police ordered traffic to proceed.

Most shipyards ceased work. But aircraft plants quickly deployed their precautionary forces, and work continued.

It was disclosed after the alert that Los Angeles had no ordinance compelling the public to get off the streets in a daylight alarm.

Indians' Opening Session Shortened

Boudreau Learns That War Work Isn't Best Place for Conditioning.

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 17—Sore muscles shortened the Cleveland Indians' spring-training session today as Manager Lou Boudreau discovered that factory shifts aren't the best possible conditioners for baseball.

Most members of the Tribe held war plant jobs throughout the winter instead of pursuing the traditional ball players' routine of hunting, fishing, golf, bowling and similar off season activities, and they found the jump back into athletic activity too much for them.

Workout Short

Yesterday's initial workout was scheduled to run two hours, but Boudreau cut it to 40 minutes when he discerned that several of his men were on the verge of collapse after a brisk session of calisthenics, running and pepper games.

The young manager expects to start prolonged practice sessions tomorrow and have his pitchers on a light program of throwing so he'll be able to launch daily batting practice before another week has passed.

Trainer Lefty Welsman's first out-of-the-ordinary chores were caused not by aching muscles but by illness. He sent first baseman Otto Denning to bed with a temperature of 102 and doctored pitchers Allie Reynolds and Steve Gromek for sore throats.

Henry (Hank) Edwards, 24-year-old outfielder, was ordered by his Norwalk, O., draft board to report for a physical examination today. Unmarried and classified in 3-A because of dependency, he probably will be put in 1-A if he passes his physical.

The loss of Edwards would present Boudreau with an acute outfield problem as only four other gardeners—Jeff Heath, Roy Cullenbine, Fabian Gaffke and Oris Hockett—are on the roster and Heath is holding out at Seattle, Wash., where he is employed in a shipyard.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, March 17—The double - barreled basketball show that starts tomorrow in the Garden has been the subject of a bit of blasting for "commercialism," but from what we hear, most of the commercialism was on the part of colleges that aimed for the more lucrative invitation tourney instead of the N.C.A.A. event. . . On the other hand, Prof. Philip O. Badger, the N.C.A.A. prexy, says his organization would just as soon hold its tournament in college gyms but occasionally it has to bid for big gates so as to put some cash in the treasury.

BARONS SMASH REDS IN PLAYOFF OPENER

Frank Ceryance Comes Up Up with 3-0 Shutout.

By The Associated Press

Cleveland, which recently recalled Goalie Bill Beveridge from the New York National league managers to strengthen the Barons for the American hockey league playoffs, may not use the portly net-minder after all if Frank Ceryance keeps up his good work.

Ceryance blanked the Providence Reds, 3-0, last night as series "C" got under way. Series "A" between the pennant winning Hershey Bears and second-place Buffalo Bisons and series "B" between third-place Indianapolis and fourth-place Pittsburgh start tonight. The Hershey-Buffalo set is a four-out-of-seven affair while the others are a two-out-of-three.

It was Ceryance's first shutout since he joined the Barons in midseason. Ceryance had played for New Haven, Washington and Hershey before being bought by Cleveland from the Bears.

Cleveland and Providence will resume in the Rhode Island city tomorrow night. If a third game is necessary, it will be played in Providence on Sunday.

Edison Cagers Win First Loop Crown.

Edison's reserve team also tied Central for the reserve league championship.

COAST TEAMS PLAN HOME-HOME SERIES

May Try System in Football Next Season.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 17—The Pacific Coast conference, as now constituted, is out for the duration, and the four California members, Stanford, UCLA, Southern California and California, most likely will schedule home-and-home football games next fall.

While the schedule will not be drawn until the June meeting in Portland, Ore., Southern California's manager of athletics, Arnold Eddy, points out that since inter-sectional football has become a wartime casualty, a Washington-USC game, involving 1,000 miles travel, is just about out of the question.

"All the schools in the conference want to continue football if possible," says Eddy, "but they want to cooperate to the fullest in the war effort, too, and the reduction of travel to the minimum is the No. 1 must order. I initiated the idea of home-and-home schedules for the California schools at the last conference meeting, but it did not get formal consideration."

Eddy thinks the home-and-home football arrangement has fine possibilities as a crowd lure. Football is one of the few sports where the loser doesn't get a chance to avenge himself within the season.

Last season, despite gasoline rationing, the Trojans had their best dollars-and-cents season in history, what with sellouts against Ohio State, Notre Dame and UCLA.

GIANTS, WEAKENED BY DRAFT, FACING SERIOUS PROBLEMS

Ott Trying To Be Cheerful But Team's Losses Are Senior Circuit's Highest.

By The Associated Press

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 17—Mel Ott performed a minor miracle last year by leading his New York Giants to third place in the National League. He may have to work a major miracle this season to keep them in the first division.

The cold facts are the Giants' losses to the war are the heaviest in the senior circuit. Pitcher Hal Schumacher, outfielder Willard Marshall, the great rookie find of last season, and Babe Young, the slugging outfielder-first baseman, have entered the service; third baseman Bill Werber has retired and two bigger blows appear about to fall—since first baseman Johnny Mize and catcher Harry Danning are both in class 1-A and awaiting induction.

The once proud Giants right now appear about as formidable as a rowboat.

But Ott retains his optimism. He simply tells questioners things will work out and he doesn't think the future will turn out as dark as it looks.

For one thing the Giants are, in effect, marking time till March 24, the day Mize is to report for induction. They think there is a possibility he might be rejected because injuries in recent seasons have shown him to be an easy bleeder.

If Mize should be turned down by the Army, the Giants' other problems could be solved in various ways and with varying hopes for success. But, as the matter stands now, Mize is out of the picture.

Ott has big Babe Barna, an outfielder, playing first base. He would like to have another outfielder, rookie Sid Gordon, on third base. But if he moves both to the infield, he will have no outfield.

JIMMY BROWN GETS DRAFT CALL

CAIRO, Ill.—March 17—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals learned today they might lose their captain and spark-plug—scrappy Jimmy Brown—to Uncle Sam.

Brown's draft board at Williamston, N. C., announced the 30-year-old second baseman had been called [illegible] if he passed, probably would be inducted just about the time the major league season opened.

But if Manager Billy Southworth saw a possible wrecking of the club's pennant chances in the drafting of Brown, he made no mention of it. He said:

"Whether we have Brownie or not, we're going ahead."

A replacement for the infield became an immediate concern of Southworth and he brought two rookies to the forefront.

Lou Klein, a slugger, is a 24-year-old infielder whom the Cardinals could have sold for $75,000 after he hit .367 for Columbus in 1941. He suffered eye muscle trouble last year, slumping to .249, but the Cardinals brought him to St. Louis during the winter and a specialist corrected the condition.

George Fallon, 26, fielding artist but a light hitter, was described by Southworth as "one of the best pivot men on double plays in baseball." He had a batting average of only .239 at Rochester last season. He reached .275 under Southworth at Rochester in 1940.

"I'm going to groom Klein for second base because he is a powerful hitter," Southworth said, "and I'm going to keep Fallon for insurance."

A member of the Cardinals since 1937, Brown has been invaluable as infield "trouble-shooter" because of his ability to play second, short and third. He started last season at third, but shifted to second in a switch that transformed the Cards into a team that couldn't be beat.

Until called for induction, Brown said he intended to remain with the cardinals, meanwhile transferring his "screening" examination to St. Louis. His wife is with him at camp. They have no children.

City School Head Supports Drive of Girl Scouts

As the campaign for more adult leaders in the Girl Scout organizations of Marion and the entire country continues today E E Holt, superintendent of Marion city schools, praised the work being done by the Girl Scouts and stressed the need for such organizations especially in wartime

"To win the war and the peace, we need citizens, and that is the goal of the Girl Scouts—to train good citizens," Mr Holt stated He pointed out that Scouting at all times has long waiting lists of girls who want to be Scouts but who cannot be served because of the lack of enough adult leaders Since the war, the waiting lists have increased considerably and it is the goal of the present campaign to make Scouting available to 60 per cent more girls.

At the end of the first year of the war in England the number of children under 14 years of age convicted of offenses against the law was 41 per cent larger than in the previous year, Mr Holt stated "Statistics show that juvenile delinquency in this country is increasing, especially among girls under 14 years old," he said

The solution, Mr Holt believes, is to prevent delinquency by providing opportunities for organized training, work and recreation for our young people through such organizations as the Girl Scouts

LABOR BILL ROW MAY DELAY VOTE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, March 17—The Republican leadership of the Ohio senate strove today to quell a rebellion among its party members against the administration's female labor bill.

The measure, increasing the legal working hours and occupation of women and minors in the state's industries, was up for a vote

Leaders of the Republican majority were fearful a battle over the bill's provisions on the senate floor would jeopardize its chances of passage

So they called a caucus of Republicans, to be held immediately before the day's session, and invited the members to air their differences behind closed doors

While Majority Leader Frank E. Whitmore expressed belief they would agree on the bill sponsors of the measure said if the dissension persisted, a vote might be postponed.

They insisted the bill retain the provision for a 52-hour week for all industries The law now sets a maximum of 45 hours for factories and 48 for most other lines of business

AKRON REMOVED FROM CRITICAL LABOR AREA

Loss of War Contracts Brings WMC Action

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O March 17—The war manpower commission has authorized the removal of this city from classification as a critical labor area but the 48-hour week order remains in effect.

The action puts a stop to war contract losses by local industry, which had mounted to an estimated $20,000,000, of claims here said.

Reclassification of the city from group 1 to group 2 makes industries eligible to receive contract renewals at the present level of production and obtain new contracts that do not call for additional manpower or production facilities

In ordering the continuance of the 48-hour week in this area Robert C Goodwin, regional WMC director said the improvement in the labor supply situation which made possible the reclassification was brought about in part by savings in labor under the 48-hour week.

Harry C Markle, area manpower director, declared the city temporarily is experiencing a labor surplus

More Contributed Weapons Wanted

A few weapons have been contributed in the local drive for arms and supplies for the men of the Navy and Coast Guard in the Ninth Naval district at Chicago E. M. Breithaupt, chairman of the American Legion committee heading the drive, reported today

In addition to guns of all descriptions, the drive also is for web cartridge belts bayonets and all kinds of ammunition

Word from the Chicago headquarters indicates a pressing need for the weapons and the committee in charge is anxious for a ready response from residents of Marion city and county

Persons who have contributions to make should call either Mr. Breithaupt T. E. Kinnear of Clyde Porterfield. Contributions may be left at the Legion Dugout on South High street the first Monday night of the month or the second and fourth Tuesday nights

Convicts Seize Elevator But Fail To Escape

CHICAGO, March 17—Two paroled convicts who commandeered an elevator in the criminal courts building yesterday failed in their break for freedom after an exciting 25-minute chase up and down the elevator shaft

Officials cut off the elevator power and the car was trapped between the sixth and seventh floors They surrendered when officials threatened to unloose tear gas

The prisoners, James Rio, 30, and Anthony Falbo 26, were led into the prisoners' elevator from a court room where they are being tried on robbery charges Suddenly they slipped out of their handcuffs and overpowered two guards

They then forced the operator to stop at each floor but their exit was barred by locked elevator doors

Only since the 18th century have separate shoe lasts been used for the right and left foot.

STOCKS LOSE GROUND TODAY

Many Market Leaders Slip After Attempting To Advance

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 17—Stocks lost ground today under pressure of profit cashing and many market leaders which had attempted to advance slipped into the minus column.

Talk of a technical correction was revived by the selling in the wake of Tuesday's general decline after recent gains. Prime rails were resistant early but soon fell behind.

War developments were a stand-off. Inflation talk and investment interest appeared to be mild influences.

Bond prices were mixed. Commodities edged higher.

Prominent losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Harvester, Boeing, Douglas, Western Union, Westinghouse, New York Central.

WHEAT PRICES KEEP STRONG TONE TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 17—Possibility of early house action to prohibit deductions of benefit payments in setting price ceilings, combined with reports of damage to the winter wheat crop in some areas, produced a strong grain market today.

Wheat advanced more than a cent at one time, influenced by a lack of offerings and strength at other markets, and rye jumped about 2 cents. Covering by previous short sellers helped the advance in rye. Oats were firm.

SENATE TO AMEND DEBT LIMIT BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 17—The senate finance committee voted without dissent yesterday to amend the house-approved debt limitation bill to prevent any reduction in wages or salaries below the highest level they had reached between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15, 1942.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) said the committee decided to discard the amendment by Representative Disney (D-Okla.) which the house had attached to the bill, and write a new and more simple formula decreeing that government agencies had no authority to cut salaries or wages back to the level they had reached in the first nine months of 1942.

The committee's action would, in effect, George added, repeal a provision of an executive order directing that salaries be held to a maximum level of $25,000 after payment of taxes.

PARKED AUTOMOBILE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss Placed at $350 in Blaze on North Main St.

An automobile parked at the rear of 494 North Main street and belonging to Harold Fremont Jr. of 195 Short street was destroyed by fire last night at 8:50. The fire is believed to have started from a match dropped on an oil-soaked mat on the floor of the car. Firemen from the Mark street station, who answered the call, were unable to save the car. Loss was estimated at $350.

At 11:25 p. m. last night firemen in the chief's car were called to the home of C. A. Huston at 156 Park boulevard where the head of a match had set a curtain on fire, burning the shade, woodwork and paper around the window. Damage amounted to approximately $25.

Wartime Brings Boost For Radio Comedy Programs

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 17—Apparently wartime conditions are bringing out comedy in radio more than ever. That is the conclusion of the program surveyors, who have dug up data to indicate that the trend in recent months has been toward a steady increase in microphone humor.

This comedy trend, the experts believe, is attributable to the desire on the part of listeners for "escape" from the war.

ESCAPED OHIO PRISONER FOUND ON WAR JOB

Free 19 Years, Floridan Advised To Clear Up Case.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 17—Ohio authorities today permitted a 42-year-old welder who escaped from the London prison farm 19 years ago to retain his job in a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., war plant, but advised him to return here and clear his case.

Warden Frank D. Henderson of the Ohio penitentiary said the state would not extradite Arthur Opperman, who walked away from the prison farm in September, 1924, after serving six months of a sentence of one to 20 years for forgery. He was committed to the penitentiary from Allen county.

Opperman, arrested in Fort Lauderdale after a check of fingerprints made when he became a war worker, was advised by Henderson "to return and get the case cleared up."

The warden added he was "inclined to think" the Ohio pardon and parole commission would release Opperman after he served the five additional months necessary before he could be eligible for parole.

Fort Lauderdale police said Opperman planned to return to Ohio next summer.

FAIL TO PAY TAXES

CLEVELAND, March 17 — Frank F. Gentsch, internal revenue collector here, ordered an investigation into the failure of 25,000 persons to pay at least one-fourth of their 1942 income taxes at the time they filed their returns. He said willful tax payment evasion would be prosecuted.

Poll Indicates Public In Favor of 11-Million Army

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 17—Secretary of War Stimson and others advocating an 11,000,000-man armed force will be interested to know that a majority of American voters who have given sufficient thought to the question to have an opinion agree with the secretary's contention.

This disclosure of public attitudes comes at a time when Washington officials have been greatly concerned about the whole man-power question.

While the issue of the size of our armed forces is largely a matter for military strategists, nevertheless the raising of a large army is considerably easier with public opinion favorable than would be the case if the public saw no necessity for such a step and were opposed to it. The new Army is in every respect a "people's Army," and its successful expansion will depend to a large extent on how acceptable the idea is to the people and how willing they are to cooperate in making the many sacrifices necessary.

The Institute took the question before the American public in the following manner:

"There is an argument in Washington as to whether this country should build up our armed forces to 11,000,000 men this year. Do you think we should or should not increase our armed forces to 11,000,000 men this year?"

The results:

Should	43%
Should Not	33
No Opinion	24

Among those with opinions, the vote is 57 per cent in favor, 43 per cent opposed.

Opposition is far more marked among farmers than it is among people who live in towns or cities. Farmers throughout the country have been complaining about the loss of farm hands and many farm groups have urged draft deferment for essential farm labor. It is undoubtedly because of the farm labor situation that the farmers interviewed in today's survey oppose the expansion of the armed forces to 11,000,000, as the following table shows:

	Increase Armed Forces? Should	Should Not	Undec.
Farmers	28%	43%	28%
Towns under 10,000	39	36	25
10,000- 100,000	43	31	26
Over 100,000	52	27	21

Married men throughout the country, who will be subject to drafting in increasing numbers, are much less in favor of the big Army than are single men.

	Married Men	Single Men
Should Increase	36%	50%
Should Not	42	36
No Opinion	22	14

The survey also found that women, even married women, are more in favor of the large military force than are men as a whole, even though the drafting of 3-A's will mean the loss of many husbands and fathers to American families.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was a twinge of disapproval of my levity in my father's eyes, but Philip Veritzen relaxed and his anger at Milner seemed completely gone as he turned to me with a twinkle in his eyes.

"By all means release the guest of honor," he said. "That is, if his jailer approves."

Awed by Royalty

"Oh, that, of course," I said, glad of a reason to smile, for I had fresh cause for mirth in his unconscious betrayal of cordial approval of a renewal of the marriage engagement between Olina and Georges. His awe of royalty, stemming from his own bar sinister relationship to the royal family of Transvania, would be more than ever appeased by a union of his step-daughter with even a dethroned and fugitive King of Trees.

I knocked at the door of the room to which we had banished Georges and Olina, and at once heard the click of the key in the lock. Then the door swung open and Georges let Olina precede him into the living room.

"I am sure you will not be disturbed again tonight, Georges," my father said.

"Perhaps I'd enjoy being disturbed the same way again," Georges said, with an audacious side glance at Olina. "I found being imprisoned most enjoyable."

"There is no law that I know of to prevent your going to jail voluntarily," my father said with a smile, then went to Olga.

Dicky Coming

"My dear Olga," he said, "I am distressed that you should have had this interruption, and am sure there will be no more. Now I hope you will have a most enjoyable evening."

"Oh, aren't you coming back," she said in dismay. "I knew you hadn't planned to come, but was hoping you had changed your mind."

"I wish I could," he said with patent sincerity, "but I am afraid it is impossible. However, my son-in-law Richard is coming presently. He has just returned."

"How delightful!" she exclaimed. "But nobody can take your place. So come back if you can, won't you, no matter how late? I'll save you some supper."

"If I can get back, you would better call it breakfast," he said smiling, then turned to me.

"I'll send Richard right over," he said.

"Thank you," I said. "Better have him stop on his way up and see if Noel and Mary have returned from the theater. If so, ask him to tell them we are all here."

"I'll do that," he promised, then left, and Philip closed the door after him.

"I wonder what is keeping Noel and Mary," Olga said, voicing a question in my own mind, although I feared that I knew the answer. Noel must have renewed his demand that Mary change the unbecoming dress to which he had objected so strenuously.

Philip Veritzen sent his regal wife a smiling glance, which to me had something vaguely disquieting in it.

"Mary is a star, remember," he said, "and it is a star's right to make an effective entrance, after the rest of the cast are in their places and the play has begun."

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, March 18

According to the stellar operations ruling this day, the accent may be placed upon the finer ideals, rather than the purely commercial or materialistic, unless these vocations have to do with the promotion of cultural and entertaining preoccupations of life. These may enjoy gain and satisfaction, with happy relations and warming contacts in all fields of endeavor. It is a favorable time for striving after social and artistic pursuits and emotional desires.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately successful, agreeable year, in which the pleasanter tides of life outrun the purely materialistic ambitions, although these also progress. Affairs of youth, home and heart engage the major attention probably with many festivities in these relations. Beware petty intrigues.

A child born on this day, while warm, generous, and friendly, may be idealistic, with its main interests focused on cultural ends.

Ways Teeth May Go Wrong

A GOOD tooth belongs in the same category as a perfect wife—it is more of an abstraction than a reality. The description of it belongs in the realm of theory.

All that you see of a tooth—when it is in your head, at least—is the crown. In fact, all you see is the outside of the crown—the enamel. The root and the internal structure of the tooth are hidden.

A tooth removed from the jaw is seen to have three parts—the crown, the neck and the root. The crown, as we have said, is exposed, the neck is covered by the gums and the root is embedded in the jaw bone.

If you were to saw this tooth lengthwise, you would find several layers, like the rings of a tree. Over the crown, on the outside, is the enamel, very hard and white normally, hard because it must stand so much wear.

Under the enamel is the dentin—a calcified substance not quite so hard as the enamel, but still very dense. It extends into the root also, but in the root it is covered by cementum instead of the enamel of the crown.

The center of the tooth is the pulp and pulp canal, carrying the nerve and blood vessels.

The root is attached to the jawbone by a hammock-like structure—the periodontal membrane. This serves as a cushion so that the teeth, when they bite and chew, can withstand the impact of the upper and lower jaws.

The alveolar bone of the jaw, in which the tooth is embedded, is almost a part of the tooth. It anchors the tooth in place and in the ideal tooth it keeps it upright in place. Perhaps the reason most teeth do not quality as entirely "good" is because they are off line, crooked, and therefore do not contact the opposing tooth of the opposite jaw.

It is easy to see from this description the ways in which a tooth can go wrong. The enamel, hard as it is, may get a minute crack in it, food particle lodge there and decay, thereby starting caries or cavities, which, going down to the softer dentin, may destroy it and get clear to the pulp, which results in an abscessed tooth. The gums may retract, exposing the soft dentin, and opening up the danger of infection. Infection reaching the pulp may go clear to the root tip, causing an apical infection. The supporting structure of the tooth may give way, causing malocclusion.
